Benefit War Chest Dance

Enrollment Up At Our School

Marin City's school enrollment, which has climbed steadily since opening day, shows 954 students registered, in the third week of school, in contrast to 870 at this same time last year.

To handle the large group of youngsters, with the heaviest over-crowding in the elementary grades, Superintendent Boyle has organized a new low first grade and hired an extra teacher, Miss Margareta Popp.

Two other teachers came in this week as replacements. They are Mrs. Flora Kauper, afternoon fourth grade; and Mrs. Lora H. May, low first grade.

If enrollment continues to go up, Superintendent Boyle plans to begin a combination low and high first grade to handle the newcomers.

Donovan Baby Baptized at San Rafael Sunday

Dennis Michael Donovan, 2½-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Donovan of A35-273, was baptized at the San Rafael Lutheran Church by Rev. John Jacobsen last Sunday.

The infant's sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. John Lopes of Mill Valley and his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. William Rash of San Francisco.

Following the ceremony, Mrs. Donovan was hostess at a luncheon in her Marin City home for the baby's godparents.

Shipyard Worker Buys Cafeteria

The Liberty Cafeteria in Marin City was sold last week to Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Brown, former shipyard workers and newcomers to the restaurant business, by Carl Edenfeldt, who established the enterprise two years ago.

Brown is a former Marinship maintenance rigger.

Hardest Winter Yet for Millions

The hardest winter since the scourge of war blasted them into misery now confronts millions of babies and adults in many lands, such as this child who sits dazed in the ruins of his home. Your donation to the Marin War Chest will meet needs of eight local Marin agencies, of groups serving the American armed forces, and the crying millions of devastated lands from Norway to the Philippines.

The Fight is Won! Public Rest Rooms Will Be Built

Public rest rooms will be constructed in the commercial area of Marin City, and work is to begin on them around the first of next week, yesterday stated the Marin County Housing Authority. This announcement successfully terminates a two months fight by the Marin City Council and The Marin Citizen which was launched in the interests of decency and sanitation. The final action ordering installation of the comfort stations was taken at the last meeting of the County Housing Commission.

All types of household equipment and dishes are being sought by the USO Cottage for incoming service families.

At an estimated cost of $600, the structures will be built of wood on a concrete foundation, and painted to blend with the kerosene station and the market, between which the rest rooms will be located. Work will be done by the Maintenance Department.

When they are completed, the rest rooms will be kept locked, and the keys entrusted to the kerosene station attendant. This arrangement will make the comfort stations available between the hours of 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.

These plans closely follow the recommendations of the Improvement Committee of the Marin City Council which initiated the drive to establish the rest rooms after numerous complaints have been made at council meetings. Residents charged that lack of toilet facilities was causing visitors to utilize phone booths and was an acute inconvenience to small children who must go shopping with their mothers. The double-barreled accusation of insanitation and indecency enlisted the support of the regional office of the Federal Public Housing Authority and members of the Marin County Housing Commission.

Do your duty and give generously to the Marin War Chest!

Marin Citizen Editor Grooms Australian Bride

The Marin Citizen's new editor, Jerry de Vries, took this week off to introduce his young bride to the United States—or at least the Marin County portion. Mrs. de Vries arrived in this country last Monday, along with 600 other Australian wives, to establish her home.

They were married at Sydney, Australia, two years ago, when Jerry was stationed there with Armed Forces Radio division of the Army. The de Vries have been separated for one and a half years, as Jerry was sent to the South Pacific shortly after their marriage.

Guitar Club Plans Picnic

The Golden West Guitar Club, with a membership of students to C. K. Ramsden, M. E. Burch, Jimmy Pugh, and Mrs. Elwood Johnson, are having a picnic dinner and a guitar concert on Sunday, October 7, at Muir Woods—weather permitting.

Each person is requested to bring table service and food, pot-luck style. The picnic and program are open to the public and it is hoped to have a big turnout.

New Head of Choir Group Here

Miss Peggy Faubel was elected president of the Young People's Choir of the Marin City Community Church. Election was held following choir practice on Wednesday evening at the home of Rev. and Mrs. John Duffy, House 337.

Miss Ailene Veness was chosen for the secretarial position and Miss Eleanor Campbell was elected social chairman. The group is planning a variety of musical programs of special interest for the Marin City Community Church. Mrs. R. H. Bradford is director of the choir.

Dance for Marin War Chest Sunday

Marin City's biggest dance of the year, the Marin War Chest Ball, will be held this Sunday, September 30, at the Community Center. Playing for the annual event is Orlando Stalling's orchestra from the famed Biff's Club in Oakland.

Doors will open at 9 p.m. and there will be dancing and gala entertainment until 1 a.m. All the town's residents and their out-of-town friends are invited to attend this benefit function.

Proceeds from the affair will help swell Marin City's quota for the Marin War Chest. Managing the dance are members of the Marin City Council, aided by Wilson Smith, who has promoted a number of successful dances recently to finance the Giants, adult baseball team.

The admission is $1.25 plus tax.

Piece of Ceiling Falls Down at School Cafeteria

A small portion of the new school cafeteria ceiling, weighing about two pounds, fell out this Tuesday, when the room was unoccupied. No explanation of the accident has been revealed, although it is believed that the section buckled from the heat.

Constructor of the annex, the Federal Works Agency, sent in an engineer to estimate the damage, survey for repairs, and attempt to discover the cause.

The cafeteria has not yet been put into use, except to serve milk during mid-session. Opening awaits arrival of more equipment. This week another portion of supplies arrived in the form of 20 collapsible tables.

Glen Bynum

Glen Bynum, 15, was rushed to Ross Hospital Monday night for an appendectomy. He is reported to be recovering well, and should be home within another week.

Marin Dormitories Will Close Doors on October 1

The Marin Dormitories which, at the peak of Marinship production, housed 1700 workers, is closing down on October 1, according to an official announcement of the Marin County Housing Authority this week. Opening in October, 1942, the buildings have provided rooms for single men working in essential industry. More recently the buildings were opened to married couples and to refugee families from the Philippines.

Preceding the shutdown, the United States Public Health Service ceased operation of the Infirmary there which has been providing hospital care for all people of the area. The Infirmary officially closed Sunday night, transferring two bed patients to other hospitals.

Also discontinued is the cafeteria there, operated by Carl Edenfeldt. It closed its doors for the final time Saturday night.

In the meantime, there are 300 men still in residence in the dormitories. According to Guy A. Ciocca, executive director, those who are eligible for war housing will not be evicted, but no new people will be admitted.

Final disposition of the property there has not been decided. However, at a meeting of the Lion's Club in Sausalito last week, Ciocca suggested that the main building be taken over for a community center in Sausalito, and advised members how to proceed in order to secure the facilities.

Another civic organization, the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce, has manifested concern about disposition of the building and is working with Sausalito groups in an attempt to take over the site—which provides a fully-equipped gymnasium in addition to other advantages. Possibility of adding a municipal bowling alley to the site is also under discussion.

ANNUAL GRAPE FESTIVAL TO BE HELD AT KENTFIELD

SUNNY HILLS

FUNDS TO BE USED FOR CHILDREN'S HOME MAINTENANCE

Sunny Hills, the Presbyterian home for children in San Anselmo, is faced with as many budget problems as any anxious individual concerned with the maintenance of quarters and the rearing of young people.

According to Mrs. Walter I. Baldwin, president of the executive board which directs the institution, the sharp rise in operations reaches from about $72,000 in pre-war days to $112,000 in 1945. Proposed necessities for next year will require an added $6,000 to this figure.

These circumstances make the success of the 46th annual Grape Festival more important than ever because net proceeds of the fete are deposited to the account of Sunny Hills and the money is used for actual running expenses.

On October 6, the spacious grounds of Mrs. William Kent's estate in Kentfield will be transformed into a carnival for the day. Dozens of booths will dot the lawns, tennis court and grape arbor. A gay-way, managed by Jo-Jo the Clown, with the assistance of his wife, Mrs. Howard Rider, and 65 Marin County Camp Fire Girls will attract the young visitors. There will be pony rides and food booths and gaily-decorated niches where all sorts of interesting things may be purchased.

Dogs belonging to the organization of "Trained Dogs for the Blind School" at Los Gatos will go through their paces at the direction of Miss Lois Merrihew, trainer.

Included among the array of booths in the gala show will be a Mexican booth, lemonade booth, gift booths, "gifts of fortune", baby booth, food department, art-in-action, and the old traditional booths.

Mrs. George A. Beanston will manage checking and jitney service for the thirty-eighth consecutive year.

School Men to Discuss Dental Trailer Program

Miss Bernice Moss, prominent school administrator, met this afternoon in Mill Valley with health authorities and education officials to work out a combined school health program.

Of particular interest is the dental program, which includes a full-time dentist and a $2000 dental trailer, loaned by the State Health Department. The total budget for dental care will come to $8000 per year, paid for by the state and county.

Don't throw away kitchen dishes or utensils. Bring them to the USO cottage for some family who needs them.

Dr. Morris' First Patients In Marin City Say Farewell

Mrs. Frank Treanor and her three children, Dr. Myrl Morris' first patients in Marin City, this week came to say farewell to their favorite pediatrician who has steered the youngsters through three years of the usual childhood ailments and accidents.

Mrs. Treanor particularly recalled her initial meeting with Dr. Morris at the Medical Center, then located in an apartment across from the market. Her eldest son, Frank Jr., had a skin condition which led a neighbor to remark that she should keep the children cleaner. The horrified Mrs. Treanor, a meticulous mother and housekeeper, recovered her pride again only after Dr. Morris promptly pronounced the youngster's condition due to impetigo, and in two days had his skin back to normal.

Curiously enough, young

Frank's first trip and his last one to his old friend was for that same annoying germ—impetigo. In between times, he and his sister had run the usual gamut of measles, tonsillitis, inoculations, colds, cuts, and bruises—all tended by Dr. Morris, who continued to keep an especially paternalistic eye upon these youngsters, her first introduction to Marin City residents.

Dr. Morris was also a big factor in the life of the Treanor's youngest child, Bobbie, who was just one year old when he arrived here. Because Bobbie had never liked milk, his first visit to the doctor showed an acute calcium deficiency apparent already in his baby teeth. It was like waving a red flag in front of Dr. Morris, a specialist in allergy, who quickly determined the youngster was allergic to milk, and produced calcium substitutes which literally put the baby on his feet.

Chief Travels Down Hill on Three Wheels

Returning from a leisurely fire inspection tour on top of Marin City's North Hill last Sunday afternoon, Chief Jimmy Netro was a party to one of the most spectacular accidents ever beheld in this town. For on that steep descent, one wheel parted from the rest of the truck and proceeded swiftly ahead of the rest of the vehicle.

Chief Netro, separated from brake control, guided his three-wheeled auto right after the errant wheel and brought his balky truck to a stop on the level. But the tire traveled straight ahead, stopping with a terrific thud against the wall of House 624, breaking two windows and frightening the occupants of the home.

Damage to the truck was repaired and it was put back into use yesterday.

Night Classes At S. R. High

The San Rafael Evening High School is starting four new classes next week, according to E. B. Gearhart, principal.

For the first time a shorthand class, featuring the Thomas Natural System, a modern, streamlined method taking one-half to two-thirds as much time as the traditional methods, is being started. Miss Frances Milliken will teach this class Monday, Wednesday and Thursday from 7 to 8 p.m., together with a class in typing on the same nights from 8 to 9 o'clock.

A course in Negotiable Instruments, primarily for bankers, will be given on Wednesday nights under a San Francisco attorney.

Starting on Friday night, subject to the approval of the board, is a class in apprentice carpentry. Registrants must be certified by the committee of builders and unions.

Use Penicillin For VD Cure

About 80 venereal disease cases have been treated each week during the past month, most of them in Southern Marin, reports the Marin County Health Department.

There have been 12 rapid treatments with penicillin for syphilis—1,200,000 units of this new drug are now used for each case.

Until the middle of May, there were 52 cases of gonorrhea treated with penicillin.

Seaman Here from South Pacific

Weekend guests at the Milton Percy home included Mrs. Percy's son, Lewis S. Cole, and his family from San Pedro; and her grandson, L. W. Watkins, seaman first class. Watkins was accompanied by his comrade, Art Reynolds, also seaman first class.

The two boys have been 23 months in the Pacific, and in the battles of Saipan, Okinawa, and Guam.

Matches Plus Kids Start Three More Fires This Week

Youngsters were responsible for three more fires which were set in Marin City this week. The first, a grass fire, occurred near House 272 on Monday. Only a small patch was burned over before local firemen arrived. The second grass fire was near House 500, and was also quickly brought under control.

The most serious was a fire near House 302, where children with matches succeeded in setting fire to the oil barrel outside the building on Wednesday. Firemen extinguished the blaze before serious damage occurred.

Firemen also answered alarms for an over-heated hot water heater at A62 and furnace at A55.

Recreation Funds Continue to October 31

Federal Lanham Act funds to continue Marin County's recreation activities to October 31, have been granted, according to the Planning Commission, administrators of the war-time program.

What is to be done when the federal money is exhausted, will be discussed tonight at a meeting of the Postwar Recreation Committee which will review several proposals for the future of recreation in the county.

Under consideration is a request for city councils and organizations to grant funds for continued recreation programs, to be matched by money from the emergency fund of the Board of Supervisors.

Dr. Colbert

Dr. John Colbert, vacationing in Mexico, will be back on duty at the Medical Center next Monday.

Extension Courses at JC Announced

Highlighting the new program of extension courses being offered at Marin Junior College starting Monday, October 1, is a class in food preparation under the guidance of Miss Virginia Shattuck, home economics expert with the P. G. and E. Actual preparation of the evening meal for members of the class is a feature that is expected to attract employed women who will receive instruction covering quick oven and broiler meals, one-dish meals and quick dinner tricks.

A complete schedule of fall semester classes for adults has been mailed out from the office of Dr. Wallace W. Hall this week.

The complete schedule of offerings follows: Art, Tuesday, 7:30 to 10:30; ceramics, Thursday, 7:30 to 10:30, and also Monday and Wednesday mornings; food preparation, Wednesday, 6:15 to 8:15. Organization of food classes will start on October 3, at 7:30.

ELKS CHARITY CARNIVAL SET FOR FRIDAY

Marin Elks will be hosts to the county on Friday and Saturday nights, the occasion being their annual charity carnival.

Their splendid clubhouse and outside adjacent areas will be filled with attractive concessions arranged for the entertainment and amusement of the thousands who are expected.

The congestion of former years has been remedied by the simple expedient of using all rooms and space available. Visitors will be able to "mill around" to their heart's content without being uncomfortable.

Nearly $4000 in war bonds will be awarded during the two sessions; many other prizes will be given.

There will be grocery, panda bear, toys and novelty booths, quite a few of which will make their first appearance at this show.

A huge caravan will tour the county tonight, advertising the carnival. This is the first time this form of publicity has been used for three years.

The best Elk "glad-handers" will be at the door to act as a reception committee for the throngs expected. Two big nights of fun and frolic are promised. The net proceeds of the carnival will be used for charity during the coming year.

Household equipment is needed by many new families here. Bring any you can spare to the USO Cottage.

What's Going On in the World? In This Corner

Test Your Knowledge of the Headline News!
(Prepared by the National League of Women Voters)

1.—Paying for world peace is like keeping up a life insurance policy. Every nation has to keep paying regular payments, or face the possibility of losing the heart-breaking investment of sixty million deaths from two wars within one generation. America helped make a payment on our peace insurance policy in London, August 8, 1945, by creating a new international law. The agreement was signed by representatives from England, Russia and France, and by Robert H. Jackson acting for the United States. What is this new law?

2.—President Truman met another payment on our peace policy by appointing an American judge to the International Court of Justice established by the Charter of the United Nations. He is a man with a great reputation for guarding civil and human rights. Who is he?

3.—Another payment towards peace is being planned by the Foreign Ministers of the Big Five in London this week who are meeting to start drafting the actual peace settlements. Italy is first on the list. Who are the five Foreign Ministers?

4.—There is a real danger that if we lapse on a single payment, we may lose the peace; yet that is what we seem to be doing regarding food. With the end of the war, the U. S. Army will require 25 per cent less meat, fish, fats and oils, eggs, skim milk, and butter than previously estimated. Are we going to allocate any of this to help get Europe back on its feet, or are we going to keep it all for domestic consumption?

ANSWERS

1.—For the first time in history, four powerful nations have written an international law which states that from now on to plot or launch a war of aggression for any reason whatsoever is a crime against humanity for which individual men and women found responsible will be severely punished. In the past international law has tried to condemn nations but not individuals. Now for the first time leaders like Tojo and Goering, Julius Streicher and von Papen may pay with their lives for bringing war to a world that wanted peace.

2.—Former Attorney General Francis Biddle.

3.—James F. Byrnes, USA; Ernest Bevin, Great Britain; V. M. Molotov, Russia; George Bidault, France; Wang Shih-Chien, China.

4.—The question is still undecided. In a recent week in Amsterdam, Holland, the individual ration consisted of one loaf of bread, seven ounces of biscuits, half a pound of rice flour, one ounce of cheese and two ounces of fat—that for a full week. Secretary of Agriculture, Clinton Anderson, and many members of Congress do not seem to favor sending much food abroad unless the American public insists. Do you insist?

Year Ago in Marin City

(From The Marin Citizen files of September 29, 1944.)

Twenty-four schoolboy traffic monitors were named by the Marin City school to patrol the town's street crossings and guide youngsters safely to and from classes.

The Marin City Council went on record as approving a "proper and quiet commemoration" on V-Day.

Infant John Flynn died of asphyxiation in Marin City despite efforts of the Sausalito Fire Department and the Medical Center staff who administered artificial respiration for one and a half hours.

The Marin City P-TA opened its fall program with an open house reception for all the school's teachers.

Marin City's first Press Club Frolic, to benefit The Marin Citizen, was scheduled for October 1.

Dr. Wallace Hall, of Marin Junior College, announced that adult education classes would begin here as soon as a sufficient number voiced a desire to attend.

The Women's Club planned a Founders' Day party, to which invitations will be extended to many out-of-town guests.

Frank Matthews, sheriff's deputy, wed the former Bernice Kinter from Topeka, Kansas.

Protection Against Disease Taken by School Children

The immunization program at the Marin City school this Monday provided protection against diphtheria and smallpox to a number of local youngsters, report health authorities.

Sixty-one boys and girls were given the diphtheria toxoid, and 71 took the smallpox vaccination. A combination diphtheria and whooping cough inoculation was given to 18 kindergarten children.

These figures represent a fair proportion of the school, as many were given the inoculations last year.

Dr. Irving D. Johnson did the immunization, assisted by Miss Verna Norton, county public health nurse, and Mrs. Gertrude Andrews, school nurse.

Parents' permission was necessary for the administration of the inoculations.

To Meet With FPHA Director in S. F.

At the USO-TA Operating Committee meeting held here on September 20, Mrs. Harrison Abbott called attention to the serious lack of housing for Negro families in this area.

The committee appointed a delegation to discuss this problem with Langdon Post, regional executive director of the Federal Public Housing Authority. Serving will be Mrs. Abbott, Mrs. Marcia Suffron, and Mrs. Loren Jay.

Bridge of Friendship Between U.S. And Russia Via Books

By JOHN DUFFY

Building bridges is a very important activity in more ways than one. For example, one can build bridges over great canyons, rivers, or bays. Also, a person can build bridges which help to bind peoples together—people who come from different lands, who have different religions, who have different talents. Many years ago, after China had been defeated in the Boxer Rebellion, the United States returned to China a great portion of the indemnity which China was supposed to pay the United States. The purpose in returning these funds to China was that they were to be used to finance the education of Chinese young people in American colleges. This was a feat of social engineering in which a bridge of friendship was built between the people of China and the people of the United States which has endured against all the ravages of war. Many of China's present great leaders were educated in American universities because of these provisions.

Today, under the leadership of President Robert Gordon Sproul, of the University of California, another bridge of friendship is being built between the peoples of two nations—this time, the nations are Russia and the United States.

The bridge of friendship consists of books, written in English, which tell the story of America and its development. These books are to be used in the Russian schools where they should prove helpful in aiding the Russian youngsters in their efforts to learn the English language and to understand the American people.

Another area of life in which bridge building is important concerns labor and management. Strikes and lockouts are a sign of industrial weakness and warfare. Between labor and management, there often exists an abysmal chasm which seems destined to keep them apart forever.

However, in many cases, labor unions and industrial managements have built a bridge across this chasm—a bridge of mutual respect, of responsible activity, of serious effort to settle problems not only on the basis of benefit to industry but also to the individual worker. One firm, located in Oakland, has to do business with more than ten unions—most of them are AFL unions, three are CIO, and one is an independent union. Yet labor and management in this firm have succeeded so well in bridging the gap between them that all of these unions, instead of working at cross-purposes with each other, cooperate for the advancement of the industry.

Sometimes, in the relationships between young people and their parents, a gap develops because the young people do not understand the parents and the parents do not understand the young people. Also, if young people face difficult situations in their young lives, parents who can build a bridge of understanding and helpfulness for them can do much good.

For example, Joseph Strauss, the man who designed and constructed the beautiful Golden Gate Bridge, was always very small. As a college student, it was his desire to be a football player. But his teammates were many times his size, and he could never get anywhere in the game. His mother, seeing his great disappointment, advised him that there were many other ways in which he could excel, and encouraged him to go into the engineering field instead. He did so, making up his mind that he would build more and better bridges than any other man had done.

Before he died, in addition to the Golden Gate Bridge, he had constructed more than 400 other bridges. This great bridge builder owed his career to the fact that his mother was also a bridge builder—only she built a bridge of understanding and encouragement instead of a bridge of steel and concrete.

The War is Over ... but

The new tire situation is as tight as it has been in the past. Now, with gas rationing taken off, you will all want to take many trips that you have been planning for such a long time.

Be sure to have your tires inspected before they are too far gone. There is no more reason for throwing away a good tire casing just because the tread is worn smooth than for discarding a pair of shoes because the rubber heels are worn down.

The tread of a tire, like the rubber heel of a shoe, is the least expensive part. Now, by the Patented Hawkinson Process, we are able to replace tire treads just as successfully as the cobbler replaces rubber heels.

Marin City Troop 18 Plans Active Girl Scout Program

Marin City Girl Scouts of Troop 18 went on a hike the last of August, taking a bus to above Boot Jack Camp, then hiking down the steep ravine trail to Stinson Beach. The water was fine for wading and the beach just right for sunbathing—well-enjoyed pursuits before a "nose-bag" lunch.

This was the longest hike yet taken, and was thoroughly enjoyed by both the girls and their adult leaders, Mrs. J. R. Kahrt, Mrs. Harrison Abbott, and Mrs. Arthur Hart.

The girls who composed the hiking group were Mary Anthony, Rose Marie Ekman, Linda Lee Bradford, Barbara Garies, Donnabelle Green, Mary Ann Ryan, Frieda Young, Mary Johnson, Barbara Kelsheimer, and two visitors, Joanne and Charley Mae.

The first regular meeting of the troop was held Saturday, September 15, to make plans for the coming year, and to discuss different ways in which the vacation days were spent. Regular meetings will be held each Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the Community Center lounge.

Mrs. A. H. Hart and Mrs. Robert Bradford attended the Leaders' Association meeting in San Rafael on September 5. Reports from the various leaders were made about summer activities, and plans for the fall and winter season outlined. Events will include Girl Scout Week, Juliette Loew's birthday commemoration, a county-wide "play day", and badge and craft activities.

Mrs. Hart presented the $25 check for the camp fund from Troop 18 sponsors, the Marin City Women's Club, to Miss Dorothy Erthle, scout executive.

An official from the national office of the USO-Travelers' Aid Service will arrive here next week to conduct a survey, to determine whether or not the present USO-TA office is needed in Marin City or some other part of the county. It has been proposed that the local agency should be moved to San Rafael.

Community Church

"The place of Jesus in the Life of Today," is the topic of the sermon to be preached by Rev. John Duffy at the 11 o'clock Sunday morning worship service at the Marin City Community Church.

Sunday School classes are held for young people of all age groups beginning at 9:45 a.m. All services are held in the Marin City Community Center Building.

More Lions Bite Dust As Result of Bounty Raise

Bounty was paid on 15 lions by the California State Division of Fish and Game during the month of August. Five males and 10 females were taken in the following counties: Santa Clara, 3; Trinity, 3; San Luis Obispo, 3; Lake, 2; Lassen, 1; Humboldt, 1; Santa Barbara, 1; Los Angeles, 1.

Effective September 15, 1945, by action of the State Legislature the bounty now paid on mountain lions is $50 for males, and $60 for females. Previously the bounty was $20 and $30.

A request by Marin Council Boy Scouts has been made to Tahoe for use of Pahatsi for a Snow Camp.

Reward Offered for Return of Pekingese

A Pekingese dog, the beloved pet of Mrs. Ruth Nietert, disappeared from her yard last Friday noon, and has been earnestly sought ever since, without success.

The puppy is 7 months old, has reddish brown fur, and answers to "Foy".

Marin Offers Little Real Employment Says League Speaker

Mrs. Marie Larson, Marin City USO-TA director, attended Tuesday's meeting of the League of Women Voters at Sausalito. Mrs. Loren Jay, member of the USO Operating Committee, reviewed the Full Employment bill now before Congress. She also declared that, in her opinion, Marin County had little to offer as a stop-gap for unemployment.

Mrs. Marion Coffey, head of the Marin County Recreation Department, talked of the need for public support for regular county funds from the Marin Board of Supervisors to continue the recreation program, for which federal funds cease on October 31.

Teeners Give $25

Two public donations to the Marin War Chest were made this week by Marin City sources. The Marin City Teeners' Club contributed $25 from their treasury, and complete benefits of the September paper sale, $10.50, were given by the Salvage committee.

Next month's salvage drive, to be held on October 14, will benefit the Servicemen's Phone Home Fund.

Following her statements, the League voted to give official support in a request for funds to continue recreation programs in the county.

MARIN WAR CHEST

Sudden end of the war has thrown greatest load in history on local and national agencies of the Marin War Chest.

Give Once for All...From Your Heart!

Never has there been so much suffering and need... never have so many people in our own Marin, in the armed forces and throughout the world looked to YOU for help.

Funds are needed on the homefront for support of youth organizations, to combat juvenile delinquency... for homes to protect children orphaned by war... for charitable funds to aid returning servicemen, the sick, the helpless.

Through the National War Fund, in its final campaign, your support is needed to aid millions of fighting men still overseas, or in camps and hospitals... to aid merchant seamen, former prisoners of war, and uncounted millions who saved nothing from the war but life itself.

CONVENIENT UNIFIED DRIVE

For your convenience, eight local Marin county agencies and the National War Fund have united in a single one-drive appeal through the Marin War Chest. Give to this Victory campaign and you give to all... for an entire year's need.

The war is NOT over for the wounded servicemen, for the starving and bereaved throughout the world, or for the helpless on the homefront. More than a million Americans have given their lives to win victory for the country they love. We cannot fail to provide support for the things the fighting men have held so dear, through the Marin War Chest.

PARTICIPATING AGENCIES

Add together your contribution to each of these agencies... then double it... to meet the crying need.

Rights and Privileges Of G.I. Joe

By J. C. Bordanaro,
Veterans Service Officer, Bank
of San Rafael.

The following is a check list of the principal things a veteran should do after discharge to protect his interests and to comply with the law. It must always be kept in mind that there are different time limitations for different acts. To be on the safe side, each veteran should make his own individual "date chart," listing the things he has to do and the dates by which necessary steps must be taken. The following list is not intended to be exhaustive or to take into account all the problems that may arise:

(1) Report to local draft board: Within 10 days after discharge or separation from the service, the veteran must report that fact to his local draft board (selective service local board) whether he was previously registered or not. If at some distance from the board, he must advise it without delay as to the date and place of discharge, the address where he can be reached, and his service serial number. The board will issue a classification card which will establish the veteran's identity and selective service status. The local draft board must be kept advised of all changes in address. Regarding the draft law, the veteran has the same obligation as any other civilian.

(2) Re-employment — New jobs: If the veteran desires reinstatement in a position with a private employer which he left for military service, the law requires that he make application within 90 days. Actually he should get in touch with his former employer immediately when separation from service is imminent so that the employer can make arrangements for the veteran's return to his former job.

(3) Service and private life insurance: To continue his service life insurance and avoid a lapse, the veteran must send a check or money order for the amount of his premium directly to the Veterans' Administration within 31 days from the end of the period for which premiums were last paid.

(4) Matters postponed under the tax and civil relief laws: Just as quickly as possible after discharge or release from service, the veteran must take care of all tax returns and payments or claims for credits or refunds or other matters postponed under the federal and state tax laws.

(5) Other matters: As previously noted, the rights and benefits provided for veterans of World II must be sought or applied for within specific time limits. This is true even of the loan, education, readjustment allowance and other provisions. This statute must be checked in each case. With regard to pensions, there are special provisions which measure the amount of pensions payable.

(6) Recording of service certificate or discharge papers: The discharge certificate or certificate of service is a very valuable paper and should be recorded as soon as possible with the county clerk, county recorder or other official having charge of recording deeds, etc. The original copy is returned after recording, but it should be kept always in a safe place.

(7) Personal and military records: As previously noted, there are excellent reasons for compiling orderly and complete personal and military records while the information is fresh in mind. Later, the exact facts may easily fade from memory. Also, there may be a time when the information may be needed by the veteran's family if the veteran dies or is incapacitated. These records should be compiled as quickly as possible after leaving service if not prepared

WOMEN . . . Are People

By MARGO DICK.

Carrie Chapman Catt started the National League of Women Voters back in 1920 as a non-partisan organization devoted to educating citizens to understand how the United States Government operates. The further objective of the organization was that the members work for legislation and government administration in the interests of the general public.

Mrs. Catt had a fine idea, and it caught on all over the country. At present there are 34 State Leagues of Women Voters, and approximately 571 local leagues. There are league members in more than 1500 American communities.

There is a League of Women Voters right here in Marin County. It meets once every month at the Sausalito Service Men's Club.

Mrs. Martin Grane, of Mill Valley, is president of the League this year. First vice president is Mrs. Francis B. Postel, also of Mill Valley; and second vice president is Mrs. Frederick Ryan of Sausalito. Secretary is Mrs. Harold Bjornstrom and membership chairman and secretary is Miss Sarah Shaw. Mrs. Ray Shultz handles press relations and the League Bulletin.

These women, with several other elective officers assisting them, are responsible for administering the Marin County League.

Actually though, much of the important part of the League is carried out by the chairwomen of the league departments. These special departments are set up to collect and dispense to league members all the information available on special subjects, always being carefully watched by the League. The departments are: Social welfare, housing, foreign policy, legislation, county government, and public health.

At every monthly meeting of the League this is what happens: The chairmen of these special departments report to the membership on what is doing in the special field which they have been watching and studying. For example, if something has arisen in the housing field which demands League attention, such as a "Slum Clearance Bill", coming up in the Congress, the members may request the chairman of the department on housing to set up a special study group which members can attend if they wish. In this group, the bill is studied and gone over thoroughly so members feel they have an excellent grasp on the legislation coming up. That means they feel that they have enough information in their possession to take political action, and know what they are about!

Does all this sound a little frightening, as though it demands women who are especially bright, or well-educated or shall we say, high brow?

Don't let it worry you. It is true that the chairmen of the departments are usually very well-informed women. Sometimes they are experts in the field they are watching. But, the general membership, the bulk of the women who are in the League are ordinary gals like you and me who go to meetings to learn something. And the wonderful thing about it is that they do! They not only find out what the score is, but they take action. They act as individuals, and they act, after all the facts are in, as an organization.

That, to me, is the finest thing about the League. It shows us how to get the facts; and it shows us how to make our voices heard as American citizens.

This is something which we women need to know, and to do, if we are to fight for the peace successfully.

Here are some of the things

Cubs and Scouts Receive Medals

Boy Scouts of the Marin Council recently held their last waste paper drive, climaxing four and one-half years of active salvage operations. This was Marin Scouts' participation in the national Eisenhower waste paper campaign, which netted the nation 302,378 tons of paper.

More than 195 Cubs and Scouts in Marin received their 1000-lb. medals as evidence of their efforts in the Eisenhower drive.

Boy Injured on Milk Truck

Donald Clark, 11, of Marin City, suffered severe injuries of his hands last Sunday while working on a Nick's Dairy delivery truck. The accident happened when he removed blocks from behind the wheels, and the truck backed up, cutting off the index finger of his left hand and crushing two fingers on his other hand.

the League is concerning itself with in Marin County this coming year.

On the active list, which means the League is ready to press for action, are:

1. The Adult Education Program, including parent-nursery schools; and county and district schools.
2. Development of an integrated planning and housing program.
3. Promotion of State and local health services, with special emphasis on medical insurance.
4. Preservation of civil liberties and protection of minority groups in California.

Youth Council Plugs for Permanent Recreation Plan

The Youth Council of Marin City met this week at Marin Junior College to determine future actions on child welfare problems in this area. Mrs. Ray Schultz, chairman, told members that federal recreation funds would be withdrawn here after October 31, and that unless citizens' protests were filed, programs throughout the county would be discontinued. It was voted that the Recreation Committee of the Postwar Planning Commission be advised to send a letter of proposed actions to all child welfare agencies in the county.

Members also volunteered to serve on a speakers' bureau to publicize the need for recreation, should the Recreation Committee agree to set up such an agency. Daniel Allen of Marin City was listed for this project if it is established.

Proposals for county organizations, as outlined by the Youth Council to obtain action on recreation are:

"That your membership be asked to vote on whether it believes that the county should be responsible for financing a county recreation program (possibly with some financial contributions from local city councils).

"That if the membership determines that the foregoing is desirable, your organization send a letter to T. F. Bagshaw, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, together with copies addressed to the four other members of the Board, stating that you believe it of primary importance to the well-being of the children of Marin County that a permanent Recreation Department be established and that it is the responsibility of the Board of Supervisors to establish such a Department.

"We suggest in addition, that representatives from your organization assume the responsibility for being present at the Board meeting on Monday, October 22, when this subject will be discussed."

The Youth Council has also pointed out that other Bay area communities, such as San Francisco, Alameda, Oakland, and Vallejo have established permanent recreation departments and adds, "it seems unfortunate that Marin County should lag behind the times in a matter of such importance to the people of the county."

New Navy Recruit

Earl Lloyd Faubel Jr., House 702, left Monday morning to enter the United States Navy at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, California. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Faubel.

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

By VIRGINIA VALE

ONE year ago Darryl Zanuck, of 20th Century-Fox, selected five comparatively unknown young players and predicted that within 12 months each would be a star. He was right. Jeanne Crain, Dick Haymes and Vivian Blaine are currently starring in the new technicolor musical, "State Fair"—though they don't seem exactly stellar material. June Haver is seen in "Where Do We Go From Here?" with Fred MacMurray, will be seen with Betty Grable in "The Dolly Sisters." William Eythe played opposite Tallulah Bankhead in "A Royal Scandal," and will be seen in a starring role in "The House on Ninety-Second Street," the F.B.I.-atomic bomb news-drama.

Alec Templeton, the blind pianist-satirist of the air's "Star Theater," recently returned to New York from Hollywood, where he completed work on a Metro film, "Cabbages and Kings." He composed the score, will introduce the music on the air.

When "Confidential Agent" company at Warners' had to shoot around Charles Boyer, who was ill, the studio announced that he'd had a severe summer cold and subsequent laryngitis. Unromantic gossips reported that he really had lumbago.

Many radio stars—among them Carol Bruce, Ann Sheridan, Ezra Stone, Eileen Barton, Yvette, Marion Loveridge and Bobby Hookey—got their professional start on the Children's Hour program; they owe much to the astuteness of Mrs. Alice Clements, who produces it, and who encouraged them. Marion has her own program now, on NBC.

For the first time since his Vienna song-and-dance days 10 years ago, and for the first time on the screen, Paul Henreid sings in "The Spanish Main." The song is "Taunton Dean," first heard in a play, "The Jolly Crew," in London in 1641. It later became a favorite of pirates in the inns of Tortuga island, West Indies—hence its selection for the picture.

Because the army asked Kay Kyser to extend his Pacific entertainment tour several weeks after the Japanese surrender, the "College of Musical Knowledge" is only now returning to the air. The ole professor had no time off when he got back; he was scheduled to star in a new film musical, "How to Be a Wolf," and Hollywood was waiting for him.

When the new comedy, "Mr. Cooper's Left Hand," opens in New York next month the first row will have an organized cheering section, made up of the entire cast of the air's "The Aldrich Family." The author of the play is Clifford Goldsmith, creator of the successful radio show. And the star of the play is House Jameson, who plays "Sam Aldrich" in the radio series.

All these years that Guy Lombardo and his orchestra have been playing for the public it never occurred to them that their facial expressions made a hoot of difference; they just concentrated on their music. But that's been changed. Hollywood is changing it. On the coast to make "No Leave No Love," the Royal Canadians are being coached on how to make faces like musicians.

For the first time Artur Schnabel, famous pianist, will play for a picture. He will record the entire piano score for Frank Borzage's "Concerto," for Republic, which features Rachmaninoff's second piano concerto—and will receive $85,000.

Vets Need Rooms

Please register at the USO-Travelers' Aid Cottage if you can offer a temporary home to white or colored veterans or servicemen and their families. These people are faced with an acute housing shortage and need your interest and consideration, says Mrs. Marie Larson, USO director here.

Odds and Ends—Dennis Morgan, of "Christmas in Connecticut," was once a soda jerker at a drug store in Prentice, Wis.—says he invented a banana split that made him famous locally. . . . Alan "Falstaff Upinshaw" Reed has joined "Duffy's Tavern"; he isn't returning to the Fred Allen show because he prefers to live on the West Coast. . . . Ozzie Nelson and Harriet Hilliard celebrate their tenth wedding anniversary in October. . . . Tommy Dorsey was figuring the cost of his Victory Garden during rehearsal of the RCA program—the cold, hard figures revealed the sad fact that each tomato cost approximately six dollars.

Ex-Navy Man to Aid Vets At San Rafael USES Office

A veteran of World Wars I and II, John H. Shelly of Marin County, is the new Veteran's Administration representative at the United States Employment Service office in San Rafael. Assigned specifically to help returning servicemen to find suitable employment, Shelly declares his new work is to "put veterans in jobs best suited to their temperament and abilities."

Particularly well qualified for this progressive employment trend is Shelly, who has just been discharged from four years service with the U.S. Navy—two of which were spent in the South Pacific where he was in contact with thousands of troops ranging over a 130,000-mile area.

The most unique period of Shelly's service was spent as a "flying paymaster" when he carried the cash to Marine and Hospital Corps troops on a circuit which covered the Hebrides, New Zealand, Guadalcanal, Tulagi, Savo, and Santa Cruz Islands. Operating from his base at Suva, in the Fiji Islands, Shelly followed on the heels of invasion troops and delivered American dollars and cents to the men before the battle fury had died down.

His rank for this near-combat service was Lieutenant (j.g.) Shelly declares the men received pay regularly every two weeks for use at temporary canteens and for barter with the natives.

Just before this South Pacific experience, Shelly was with the 12th Naval District in the Port Director's office of the Ship Procurement section. As a member of this corps, Shelly chartered five Dutch ships which were stranded here after Pearl Harbor—to be used as U.S. Navy transport vessels. He also purchased fishing craft and pleasure yachts which the Navy utilized for coast patrol.

Prior to his honorable discharge, Shelly was with the Labor and Transportation, Conservation and Salvage at the Naval Station in Key West, Florida, where he was promoted to full Lieutenant rank.

Before the war, this retired Navy Supply Corps Lieutenant was a wholesale magazine and newspaper distributor in Marin County for eight years.

The new veterans' man at the USES office has one son, John J. Shelly, 26, who is a gunner's mate, 1/c, on the USS Livingston in the South Pacific. The young man has been in the majority of Pacific action including the Marshalls, the Gilberts, and Saipan. Young Shelly's wife is living in Sausalito. Shelly Sr.'s daughter, Rose Marie, entered San Rafael High School as a freshman this fall.

Like all returning servicemen, Shelly has had a tough time finding housing for him-

More Ammunition Made Available To Hunters

The War Production Board has amended Limitation Order L-286, governing distribution and sale of ammunition for civilian use, effective until revoked. The amended order eases control on distribution and provides the maximum quota which any person is entitled to purchase for use during the coming hunting season.

Direction 1 provides for relaxation of wartime controls on distribution of available civilian ammunition to distributors or dealers in the United States.

Direction 2 provides for a special maximum quota of ammunition which any person is permitted to purchase for use during the 1945 hunting season, as follows:

150 rounds of .22 rim fire cartridges;

40 rounds of center fire rifle cartridges (or 50 rounds of the kind ordinarily packaged 50 to the box, such as .25-20, .32-20, .22 Hornet, .38-40 and .44-40;

100 rounds of shotgun shells of any gauge.

Before purchasing any of the ammunition permitted sold under Direction 2, the purchaser must sign and deliver to the seller a certificate.

Direction 2 also provides that farmers and ranchers are entitled to the described special hunting season quota in addition to their regular quotas.

self and family. Temporarily camping with friends, he's now ready to start construction of a new home on Forbes and K Streets.

'Moved, Left no Address?'—Cost You Good Money

Persons who have recently changed their address and are expecting a refund on their 1944 Income Tax return should immediately notify the Collector of Internal Revenue of the district in which the returns were filed. Collector James G. Smyth advised taxpayers in the district this week.

Refund checks are not forwarded through the mail, the collector pointed out, but returned to the Internal Revenue office and held for a period of six months. After this period expires they are put in a general fund.

Braun is New Commissioner

Harry Braun, president of the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce, was appointed to a vacancy on the Marin County Housing Commission this week by Fred Bagshaw, chairman of the Board of Supervisors. Braun succeeds W. H. Nostrand, formerly of Mill Valley, who resigned before moving to Oregon several months ago.

"It's a fine choice," comments Guy A. Ciocca, executive director of the Marin County Housing Authority. "Braun represents the men from Sausalito who have always been extremely cooperative in matters relating to the Marin Dormitories and Marin City."

The new man will take office at the next meeting, Friday, October 5.

County Communicable Diseases Listed

This week's report from the Marin County Health Department showed measles in the lead in this area with 13 cases listed. Other prevalent diseases are: chickenpox, 2; German measles, 1; gonorrhea, 5; syphilis, 1; mumps, 2; and tuberculosis, 3.

USES Offers 783 Jobs in County

Proof positive that "the gravy train is gone" is this week's report from the San Rafael United States Employment Service office where, although there are 783 jobs listed, the great majority are in the "low income" group.

Marin County's biggest bidder for labor—the shipbuilding industry—now has calls in for only a few highly skilled workers, no unskilled employment is offered.

The main demands are for houseworkers, sales clerks and waitresses, telephone operators, and a few office workers.

All government agencies—including Mare Island, Hunter's Point and Hamilton Field—are closed except to veterans.

Do your duty and give generously to the Marin War Chest!

War Chest Aids Three Age Groups

Girls in three age groups receive training and guidance in the Camp Fire Girl program, which is an agency of the Marin War Chest. Blue Birds (left) are aged 7-9; Camp Fire Girls (right) are from 10 to completion of eighth grade; and the new Horizon Club girls (center) are of high school age. In this picture the girls are preparing scrapbooks for a San Francisco hospital and painting vases for Hamilton Field.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS IS ACTIVE ORGANIZATION

By Jessie M. Drexler

Of extreme importance in the life of our nation today is the encouragement and maintenance of institutions and organizations which have as their prime objective the building of character in our youths and the training of them in good citizenship. Such an organization is Camp Fire Girls, Incorporated, including its Blue Bird groups and Horizon Clubs.

This organization was founded in 1912 in order to fulfill the expressed wish of girls for some program to provide activities for their spare time. It has become a great national movement, in which leading citizens of the nation and of thousands of local communities are happy to participate.

Thousands of volunteer guardians, group sponsors and council members promote the work. Each of these and every girl in a group pays dues of $1 a year to the national organization and local councils almost everywhere participate in community chests, as they do within Marin County.

Their program is a home centered one, designed to prepare girls to become the best sort of wives, mothers and home makers for tomorrow. This is meant, not to take the place of training given in home, church and school, but to be supplementary to these. Each group exemplifies the true workings of democracy as they plan together for service work, camp life, parties or rank. Each group becomes a mirror through which each girl sees herself against the background of the other girls and learns how to live happily among them.

Marin County is justly proud of its well organized Camp Fire set-up which finds at least 600 girls in its three-age divisions.

Youngest are the Blue Birds, whose ages are 7, 8 and 9.

Camp Fire girls are from ten years old to the completion of the eighth grade. Marin County has 20 groups.

The Camp Fire Law which they repeat at every group meeting might well serve as a guide to all citizens of our country since it would help them to deal realistically with the problems of today and give vision to work towards a happier tomorrow.

The law says: "Worship God, Seek Beauty, Give Service, Pursue Knowledge, Be Trustworthy, Hold on to Health, Glorify Work, Be Happy."

The practical applications of these principles are brought out in the many activities into which the girls are led. These are very largely accomplished through the seven crafts that are the foundation upon which their many projects are based.

Every year Camp Fire Girls serve at the Grape Festival and each year they count out and prepare all the supplies needed in the various parts of the county for the annual Red Cross Roll Call, such as the pins, seals, posters and charts.

Individual groups assist their sponsoring organizations whenever they are asked to do so, perhaps serving a dinner, caring for young children or putting on a program.

Camp life plays an important part in all divisions of Camp Fire. For years Marin County has shared Camp Thayer with Sonoma County. This summer has been the last one for that sharing. Next year they will use the new camp site on Mt. St. Helena donated to them by Mr. and Mrs. Norman B. Livermore.

The county is fortunate in having as Camp Fire Executive Miss Louisa R. Fox, young and enthusiastic. Miss Jean Nipper is her staff assistant. Their office is in Boy Scout Hall, San Rafael. Camp Fire is important because it is fun for the girls, because they find in it the satisfaction of happy hours with other girls. This is the secret of its educational value—girls enjoy Camp Fire, find service and work and personality growth all parts of a happy experience together.

Approval of the private sale of property of indigents who died at the County Farm during the past year was granted to Fred Elster by the Board of Supervisors last Monday.

Campaign to Get Under Way This Week End

The Victory Campaign of the Marin War Chest is set to open in full force this weekend in this community and throughout Marin County.

Nearly 2000 workers, including a strong organization locally, have been trained and readied for the solicitation which will begin on Sunday. Funds raised will go to support of the eight local Marin County agencies and to the National War Fund.

The county-wide unified drive is the only solicitation for funds which will be conducted by any of the affiliated organizations for an entire year.

"The sudden end of war has left us with the greatest need in history, both at home in Marin, and throughout the world," declared Thomas P. Ludcke, county campaign chairman. "Marin County has never failed to meet its responsibilities, and it will go over the top again this time."

Heading the campaign in Marin City is Mrs. W. C. Billingsley. Dan Allen is in charge of contributions from the business section.

Local agencies whose support comes from this drive are Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, St. Vincent's School for Boys, Sunny Hills Orphanage and Farm, Salvation Army, Catholic Charities, Marin City Welfare.

Agencies of the National War Fund include the USO, United Seaman's Service, and 14 organizations serving the suffering people of Europe and Asia.

Unqualified endorsement has been given to the campaign by civic, business, labor and church leaders of Marin County. National figures including President Truman, General MacArthur and Governor Warren have stressed the need for liberal giving.

Solicitation in most communities will be at the homes by volunteer workers. Those who wish to do so may mail their contributions to their local chairman or to the county headquarters in the court house, in San Rafael. Each gift is credited to the community where made.

"We have been asked how much each person should give," Ludcke stated. "The need is so great that there should be no limit on your generosity. I think the best way is for you to list each agency with the amount you should give to it. Take a total, and then give that amount."

"In this, the last drive of the National War Fund, we must all plan to give sacrificially."

The Marin War Chest is a non-profit corporation created under state laws to raise funds in a unified campaign for charitable purposes. It is operated by a board of 25 directors chosen from all groups in Marin County. President is K. K. Bechtel, of Ross.

Herman L. Herron, chief carpenter's mate of Santa Rosa, has been released from service under the Navy's demobilization plan.

War Chest Builds Youthful Character

One of the important projects in the character-building program of the Marin Council, Boy Scouts of America, is their overnight camp, "Tamarancho," recently opened on the slopes of Tamalpais near Manor. Support of the Marin Scouts is through the Marin War Chest, which will hold its annual unified drive starting October 1. This picture, taken at the camp dedication, shows the presentation of the dedicatory plaque.

MARIN BOY SCOUTS HAVE HIGH COUNCIL STANDING

By BARBARA BROWN

"The Marin Council of the Boy Scouts of America is reaching more boys per one hundred 12-year-old boys in the community than 99 per cent of the councils of the United States." This is the commendation recently released by the national office of the Boy Scouts. "But we are by no means satisfied with this. Statistics can always be bettered," says Harris Ricksecker, Marin Scout executive, "and the job won't be completed until every Marin boy has the opportunity to be a Cub or a Scout."

Scouting as a council was first organized in Marin in 1922. Since then it has grown from a handful of youngsters to a vital group of 1,422.

In explaining the organizational structure that makes up the biggest youth training program in the nation, Ricksecker stresses that it is "Mainly a volunteer movement aided by a small professional staff which acts as a service group to advise and train volunteer leaders. Hence the credit for the growth and the success of Scouting goes to the interested citizen of the community who are giving much of their time and money to the effort of the program."

At the present time there are over 300 volunteer leaders who are contributing their skill to the building of healthy young minds and bodies. It is the funds of the War Chest that provide experts to give these volunteers their youth leadership training. Last year more than 465 training certificates were awarded to Marin Scout leaders.

And what is the value of Scout training to the boy? A very poignant answer to that question is found in the many letters from Marin soldiers, sailors and marines (there are over 2,500 of them who are former Scouts) who have written home to say that the war brought very close to them the value of Scouting. Not only did Scout training save their own lives, but it enabled them to save the lives of their buddies. Many letters express their authors' wish to soon return to civilian life in order that they may enter into the Scout leadership program.

During the course of last year, more than 2,000 Marin boys passed through the Scout program. These boys were registered in one or more of the 53 units which undertook the five phases of Scouting. These include Cub Packs for the 9 to 12 age group; Scouts composed of boys 12 years and older, and senior scout programs with three subdivisions available to the Scout over 15. These are Air Scouts, Sea Scouts and Explorers.

An enlargement of the outdoor Scouting program is intended to provide year-round activity for Marin Scouts. At the spacious "Tamarancho" boys and leaders will participate in the development of the ranch, as well as enjoy wilderness camping.

During the war, Marin Scouts sought every opportunity to aid the local war effort. Like other Scouts throughout the nation, they were commissioned "Dispatch Bearers" by the O.W.I., to distribute war posters.

Marin Scouts distributed 3,600 of these posters. They also collected over 2,000,000 pounds of waste paper, collected books for military camps, participated in Tuberculosis Association, Red Cross, and bond drives, made 1000 Christmas tree ornaments for Hamilton Field hospital, and undertook many other jobs in the speeding of victory, which more than fulfilled the Scout ideal to "Do a good turn daily."

Members of Marin Scout Council are: W. E. Waste, Rowland Chapman, G. R. Dagnall, A. L. Hawley, Jr., Clyde Hildreth, F. Somers Peterson, Francis Seitz, Edwin A. Wells, William P. Murray, Roy A. Ibach, James D. Adams, Robert W. Adams, Jacob Albert, Ward Austin, T. Fred Bagshaw, G. R. Barth, H. L. Baslee, K. K. Bechtel, Hon. Edw. I. Butler, T. P. Boyd, D. Brown, A. D. Cagwin, J. J.
